

KIDD'S STORE.

—Sam Rutherford's melon patch furnishes an anomaly in a vine on one branch of which are set five thrifty watermelons—triplets at one point.

—Mrs. W. O. Monnett, Willie and Mildred have gone to Ohio on an indefinite stay. Ed Powell left Saturday to supervise improvements to his Cumberland county farm.

—A goodly crowd from this city and surroundings attended the circus at High Bridge last Sunday, but all took in only the side shows as not one saw or heard the star performer, so far as I have been able to interview. Our quota will probably prove faithful as long as the show are advertised.

—Billy Weatherford has immediately taken front rank as a turnpike president. His inspection car is as promptly run over his road after heavy showers and brisk gales as after cyclones and catclysms and Pat McEon as promptly dispatched with his construction train to repair what is rarely considered impairment of first-class condition of other roads. In pretentious cities Billy's road would be a favorite boulevard.

—Casey dolls her hat to Misses Jennie and Anna Reid, Jessie and Kate Cook, Julia Stagg and Mrs. Dave Skinner, of Hustonville, in their appreciation of her son in the beautiful tri-colored comfort they made of the trining used at the grand picnic of the 4th and presented our Jim as a souvenir of the anniversary. The St. John's feature of the occasion is found in a central star which suggests the Masonic degree the ladies have received. That tribute from such a source condones all Hustonville's tardy award of praise so richly won and our hats off even to the I. J.'s scribe.

—The rains of last week were most opportune as a stimulus to what promises the finest corn crop of many years, but injurious to the great amount of hay which was caught in awash and shock. A neighboring young bachelor feels that he is damaged nearly $200. The wheat was all safely stacked, but many oats fields are yet in shock. One of our philosophic farmers serenely submits to the vicissitudes of weather with a conviction that immediately destructive visitations are ultimately richly compensatory in lines that may not be apparent at the time. The rains which damage the matured but ungarnered crops will add manifold to those still growing, and the altruist finds himself fortunate in what the pessimist deprecates. Blessings certainly are often showered in very gloomy disguise.

—The teachers' institute at Liberty last week drew like a circus from this end, and the unanimous enjoyment and profit of the occasion, but accord with the fact that the state of Casey can always be ranked truly abreast the procession when she offers entertainment to the enterprising and intellectual. Casey has a gem in a paradox—Sergeant East Tarrant—the oldest school teacher now living, and one of Ponce de Leon's men who certainly found the spring, as he would currently pass for a grandson of many of his surviving pioneer pupils. The patriarch entertained the institute with a thrilling reminiscence of Casey's primitive history. Hewed log dwellings as well as school-houses were the order when he first attached himself to the goodly land, and but one house in the country had received a coat of paint. Birch was as essential as loaves in the successful conduct of a country school, and the enervating sedentary life of a modern moral suasion teacher was unknown. Proper application of the birch eliminated the sedentary feature of school teaching life and the muscular exertion assured good digestion and refreshing sleep. It had not occurred before, but certainly the robust physique and unimpaired appetites of the old timers are largely referable to the lively indoor as well as play ground exercise of the teacher.

—John H. Tucker, brother of Dr. D. C. Tucker, died Tuesday, aged 86.

—B. G. Fox secured the exclusive right to run omnibuses to the depot at $645.50 a year.

—Ike Dunn sold to J. C. Johnson 72 hogs at 4¢ cents. Mr. Johnson shipped them to Cincinnati and reported a loss of $300 on the lot. He also bought 171 old sheep from J. C. Johnson at 1½¢.

—Dr. M. D. Logan was recently commissioned a colonel on Gen. John B. Gordon's staff, United States Confederate Veterans, Department East of the Mississippi. This is quite a coveted honor, and all the more complimentary in this case because of the complete surprise with which it took the worthy recipient.—Advocate.

The Big Four Route will give a rate of one-fare for the round to Boston August 25-31, good to return Sept. 10, on account Knight Templar's Conclave. For full particulars call on agent of Big Four or address E. O. McCormack, passenger agent, and D. B. Martin, G. P. A., Cincinnati.

—The house and lot of Miss Ella Watson was quite recently sold for $1,200. The County Superintendent, J. Hunt McMurtry, bought the house and a portion of the lot for $600 and Dr. James B. Kinnaird and W. R. Romans the remainder of the lot and the carriage shop for $600.

—Die!, at her home in this place on Thursday morning, after a short illness of typhoid fever, Mrs. Wm. Ward, who had won the admiration and esteem of all, by her quiet unassuming manners and gentle Christian character. Scarcely a year ago Mr. Ward and family moved into their pretty new home on Lexington street and now that home with its many attractions is deprived of a wife's and mother's presence. Mrs. Ward was Miss Lizzie Saper, of Paint Lick, and died as she had lived, a meek and humble Christian woman. The funeral services were held at the Methodist church this morning and the burial will be at Paint Lick. Much sympathy is felt and extended the sorrowing husband, two little daughters and other relatives.

Brown this week. Hugh Mason, of Chicago, is with his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Mason, for a visit.

To The People of Lincoln County.

As it is well known to the majority of the people of this State that the 29th National Encampment of the G. A. R., will be held in Louisville from Sept. 9th to 14th, being the first one ever held South of the Mason and Dixon line, and as "Old Kentucky's" reputation for hospitality is at stake, it devolves upon the shoulders of the entire State to lend their assistance in entertaining the vast crowd of visitors (estimated to be between 300,000 and 400,000.)

It is the intention of the committee to entertain these old soldiers with an old fashioned Kentucky barbecue, and we respectfully ask the people of Lincoln county, whose reputation for liberality cannot be questioned, to contribute a small mite to this grand undertaking, either of beaves, mutton or shotes. The barbecue committee estimates that they will feed 100,000 people.

A special date will be designated when to send these contributions, as each railroad is to start a special train over their respective lines to collect the contributions. All we ask the people of this county, is their earnest support in this matter.

Citizens' Committee G. A. R., Louisville.

Penny, drug-gist.

The interest of the large number of teachers in attendance is unabated. Many join in the discussion of topics pertaining to their vocation. The music is an attractive feature of the exercises, as many of the teachers are excellent singers. Mrs. Georgia Rice and Miss Lucille Joplin preside at the organ.

—Eighteen years ago yesterday the present railroad agent was installed at this place. Since then every agent on the L. & N., with but few exceptions, have changed places. The K. C. was extended from Paris to Livingston, the K. D. division to Jellico, the C. V. to Norton, and many other changes have been made during the above period. Many promotions have been offered, but our agent considers this the healthiest locality in the world and remains here.

—The revival continues at the church here, conducted by the Presbyterian ministers, and a sufficient number of members were assembled last Sunday to organize here. The church will begin with about twenty members, and as the ministers seem so deeply in earnest, we do not doubt that the body will increase rapidly in numbers. This will help to fill a long felt want in our town, for sufficient interest has not been taken in religious matters.

—On a recent trip to London we found the ever popular Frank Riley at the old stand, greeting his many friends and guests as of yore. Prof. Chiesman is still running the brass band and working for the Star Route men. At the depot we found Mr. Faris holding things down while Mr. Hayward, the agent, is on the sick list. Brown, colored, of Louisville, preached at the Christian church to a large crowd of white and colored people. It was a quiet, orderly crowd all through the sessions of the meeting and the ministers were an intelligent looking set of men.

Adams, of Birmingham, brother of our J. B. Adams, is here on a visit to his brother. His little daughter, Evelyn, came with him. Mr. Adams, who is a banker, speaks enthusiastically of the great prospects for commercial prosperity ahead of Birmingham and Alabama. Hocker, and we hope he may come back permanently improved. Mrs. C. C. Vanardall, Mrs. James Frye, Misses Dollie Cabbell, Ellen Powers and Sallie Ellis and Geo. Ellis took in the Sunday excursion to High Bridge camp meeting. Roy Rose is at home after a sojourn at Russell Springs in search of health. He is greatly improved.

W. P. WALTON.

In May, 1887, a few self-sacrificing, patriotic and devoted women at Louisville conceived the idea of erecting a monument to the Confederate dead, which would tell in mute expression of the heroism of the gallant men who fought, bled and died for the cause they loved and believed to be just. It was no small undertaking, but they went resolutely to work, elected Mrs. S. Preston Hepburn, a woman of great executive ability, president, and began at once to interest the wives and relatives of Confederate soldiers all over the State. From a little band of 17 the association grew to 250, and by systematic, earnest labor they at last saw the fruition of their desire in the completion of a monument that will stand almost as much a testimonial to their courage and indefatigable efforts as a memorial to those who fell in battle for the South. The handsome shaft was unveiled Tuesday by Mrs. W. N. Halderman in the presence of more than 10,000 people, after the Confederate Association, headed by Gen. Buckner and Senator Lindsey, had marched to the scene. Ex-Mayor Charles D. Jacob delivered the introductory address, which was a gem of beauty and brevity, and he was followed by Gen. Basil W. Duke, whose tribute to the valor of the noble men whose memory was sought to be perpetuated, and to the true women who had accomplished so much, was a grand and eloquent effort that further stamped him as an orator and patriot. All honor to the glorious women who have again shown their loyalty and love for their dead, who gave their lives a willing sacrifice for a cause in the justness of which they had the firmest faith.

One story is good till another is told. Gov. Brown's high sounding words with reference to slander, when he pardoned Monroe Boniseau for the murder of Howard Perdue at Paducah, had some of the ring taken out of them by Commonwealth's Attorney W. F. Bradshaw, who prosecuted the murderer and knows the facts in the case. He says it was a case of assassination pure and simple, Boniseau having called Perdue to the door and shot him dead in the presence of his daughter. Perdue, he adds did not write the objectionable article, every word of which was true and no slander whatever. Mr. Bradshaw adds that such a use of the pardoning power has a deleterious effect and tends to encourage and increase crime. "It may be political," he avers, "but certainly it is not justice to the people and is poor encouragement to officers who are trying to enforce the law." Gov. Brown has not shown any special desire to abuse the pardoning power, we are willing to admit, but he oughtn't to monkey with it at all. There isn't one conviction in a hundred wrongfully obtained and judges and juries ought to be better advised of the guilt or innocence of a man than the governor who hears only ex parte evidence.

Tux Maryland democrats in convention assembled at Baltimore nominated Hon. John E. Hurst for governor, endorsed the democratic National administration and declared for a gold basis for the monetary system. There is a dog fall in the wrestle between Goutman and the opposition. He gets his favorite for governor and the other side hits him a lick by endorsing the administration that he abused.

The Hopkinsville people are already beginning to put the big pot into the little one and the skillet in that in preparation for the entertainment of the members of the Kentucky Press Association. Those of us who enjoyed the meeting of that body there 20 years ago know how delightfully the Hopkinsvillians entertain and are looking forward to glorious times next month.

A DISPATCH says that Mrs. Cantrell, of Georgetown, suggests that Kentucky Day at the Atlanta exposition be made a memorable one at the Woman's Building by having served an appropriate Kentucky drink. The good lady does not "denominate the poison," but old toppers will smack their lips in anticipation of it being good old Kentucky whisky.

SENATOR JOHN O. HODGINS announces himself an independent candidate for mayor of Lexington. Mayor Duncan and Mr. Sumrall are the democratic candidates. As is always the case "politics is hell" over there and charges and countercharges, crimination and re-crimination are making the pot boil even more furiously than ever.

Two of the candidates for the Legislature in Nicholas and Robertson counties have withdrawn, leaving Judge Bonta, a sound money man and a McCreary supporter the leading candidate and Gov. McCreary away on top since his speech of Saturday.

Score another for the governor. A sound money McCreary democrat has been nominated in the Legislative district composed of Wolfe and Morgan counties, and as the party has a majority of 600 or more there, he is as good as elected.

CHAIRMEN NORMAN and Yerkes arranged a series of debates between Hardin and Bradley, beginning Aug. 19th at Louisville. There will be 12 in all, the one for this district being fixed for Nicholasville, Sept. 3d, and for the 11th at London, Sept. 6. It was agreed that the speaking at all of the points, except Louisville and Covington, will begin at 2 o'clock p. m., Gen. Hardin opening the debate at Louisville, and the candidates alternating thereafter at each appointment. The first speaker is to have 1 1/2 hours and the second to have 1 1/2 hours for reply, and the first to have 15 minutes for rejoinder. No new matter to be introduced in the rejoinder. Mr. Norman demanded 40 debates, but Col. Bradley as he tells us thought twelve sufficient, as he wanted to debate with Tom Pettit, who was ruled out, and Demaree, who didn't demand a division of time. Besides he says he wants to speak at many points that he would have to yield, if the speaking were limited to debates. According to the report in the Courier-Journal Mr. Yerkes acted with great caution and suspicion and the conference liked to have broken up without an agreement.

The wonderful revolution in type setting is shown in the fact that a man at Denver with a Morganthaler machine set 65,500 ems in eight hours or just ten times more than the average compositor sets in that time. With paper lower than it ever was and composition reduced at such a ratio, it is little wonder that the great dailies are reducing their prices so materially. Pittsburgh, Pa., takes the cake in the matter of low priced newspapers. There are nine dailies published there, all large, and the entire lay-out can be had for nine cents.

The Manchester Star is a tri-weekly, that is to say it comes out one week and tries to come out the next, but it doesn't often succeed. The wonder grows though, how it can come out at all. The proprietors certainly show a courage worthy of a better cause and deserve the support they do not seem to get.

It is a matter of general regret among his newspaper and other friends that the brainy editor of the Louisville Critic, Mr. Dan E. O'Sullivan, has been forced to resign, owing to unfortunate outside investments. He will, we are glad to note, continue to run the Critic, which is a veritable little gold mine.

A TRICK.—A gentleman who has investigated tells us that the republicans are working a little scheme. On nearly every train you meet those who claim to have always voted the democratic ticket, but this year they say they will vote for Bridley. A number of these cases have been traced up and in nearly every instance it was discovered that these claimants were rank republicans and have always voted that way.

A GOOD old farmer saw a paragraph in a newspaper that the chloride of sodium was an excellent remedy for something or other. The next time he was in town he went to Penny's drug store and told George Penny he would like to get a little chloride of sodium if it was not too costly. "What is the price of the smallest quantity you will sell," he asked. "We don't keep it," was the reply. "You can get it at any grocery for about $1.65 a barrel of seven bushels." And the old man went away very sorrowful when he found his medicine was common, every day salt.

KISSED AND MADE UP.—Our readers will remember that a week or two ago, Mr. A. P. Jones had an advertisement in this paper warning the public against trusting his wife on his account, as she had left his bed and board with little or no excuse. This apparently sad ending of a love affair, has we are glad to state, been averted. Mutual friends have brought about a reconciliation, Mr. and Mrs. Jones have fallen upon each other's neck and kissed, and everything is lovely again. Mrs. Jones was Miss Hannah Sweet and Mr. Jones doubtless realized that she was too much like her ex-surname to give her up without a struggle.

RIGHTED THE WRONG.—A few days ago Martin McCormack, the blind pensioner who lives near Turnersville and draws $72 a month, had Wm. Jones, also colored, arrested and placed in jail for seducing his 17-year-old daughter, Alice. Seeing that he was in for it, William decided to marry the girl and sent word to that effect to her father. Wednesday the old man with his daughter, dressed as fine as a fiddle, appeared at the jail and made his wishes known. Jones was taken from his cell to the office of Judge Davidson, and by that official he and the wronged Alice were bound heart and hand. "Now kiss her," said McCormack to his new son-in-law. Jones obeyed, the judge discharged the case against him and everything was lovely.

THE coolest weather for this time of year since the establishment of the signal service has prevailed here for several days. The mercury was down to about 50° and some people had fires. "Fair, slightly warmer," is the prediction for to-day.

ATTENTION is called to the notice of the College Home, Crab Orchard. The first year's work was most successful and President John S. Stapp will begin his second year with absolute assurance of a largely increased attendance. The school is very thorough and the surroundings are very delightful to the pupils.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

—Rev. William Edward Beecher, brother of the noted divine, Henry Ward, died Sunday at Brooklyn, aged 91. Five children of the famous family of 11 still survive.

—At Lexington Capt. George W. Diddle, one of the most prominent members of Gen. John H. Morgan's command in Lexington, died, aged 63. He was teller of the Fayette National Bank, and a useful citizen.

—The little 6-months old child of Mr. Dyehouse that Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Sizemore have been keeping for some time, until it could be taken at the Baptist Orphan Home, died Monday night, after a few days' sickness incident to teething. It was a bright, interesting baby and the kind couple and Miss Octavia Sizemore had become very much attached to it, as much so as if it had been a real instead of an adopted member of the family.

After a funeral sermon by Rev. R. R. Noel, the remains were laid to rest Tuesday afternoon in Buffalo Cemetery, in the presence of a large number of people.

—Mr. J. W. Bastin writes from Pittsburgh: "Col. C. W. Stringer, an old and respected citizen of our town, died July 27th, after a long illness of general disability, aged 69. He was a soldier in the Mexican war. Funeral services were held in M. E. church, conducted by Elders J. G. Livingston, of Christian church, assisted by Dr. Hyden, of Presbyterian church, after which he was laid to rest in Pittsburgh Cemetery. Col. Stringer was a true and tried democrat and risked his life last presidential election to go to the poles and vote for Mr. Cleveland, he being in a very delicate condition at that time. He was once blown away by a cyclone, which swept our town 11 years ago, from which he never fully recovered."

—After almost a year's illness of consumption, Hugh H. Hays died Wednesday night. About 15 months ago signs of the dread disease began to show on him and he was soon reduced from an apparently healthy man to a thoroughly diseased one. Mr. Hays was 31 years old and was a son of Mr. William H. Hays, who died 12 years ago of the same disease. His mother, Mrs. Kate Hays, who is making her home with her daughter, Mrs. J. W. McCurdy, at Kansas City, Mo., failed to arrive in time to see her son alive, but is expected to-day or to-morrow. Mr. Hays was married several years ago to Miss Pattie Beazley, who has proved a loving and faithful helpmeet, and she with three children survive him. After short services at his late home at 3 p. m. yesterday by Revs. W. E. Arnold and W. E. Ellis all that was mortal of Hugh H. Hays was laid to rest in Buffalo Cemetery.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—A Philadelphia preacher rejoices in the appropriate name of Isaac Settemrite.

—According to the census report there are in this country 143 religious denominations, with a total of 20,615,806 communicants.

—Rev. Wm. Richards announces a basket meeting at the colored Christian church the 3d Sunday in August, when he will preach three times.

—Nebraska City authorities, finding it impossible to suppress the Salvation Army by legal proceedings, had the fire department to drench the religionists with water.

—The Menefee Memorial Presbyterian church at Owingsville was dedicated Sunday, R. A. Walton, of Georgetown, officiating. The choir from Mr. Walton's church went over and assisted in the singing.

—The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church has 13 hospitals and dispensaries, and ministers to about 50,000 women through its medical missionaries.

—The Fife revival at Campbellsville was the most successful meeting ever held there. There were 160 additions to the various churches of the town as a result of the meeting.

—The annual report of the American Bible Society shows that there were during the last year 1,581,128 leaves of Bibles, Testaments and portions, of which 735,221 were circulated in foreign lands. The total issues to date are 59,955,558.

—The Christian church is making big preparations for the entertainment of the 600 delegates which are expected to attend the State convention here Aug. 19-23. Nearly all the citizens have offered to entertain the visitors and homes will be provided for all who attend.

—It is estimated that there are 48,000 church edifices belonging to all branches of Methodism in the United States, having a total value of $168,000,000. Their total benevolence for the year 1894 amounted to $23,414,238—contributions to missions alone exceeding $1,000,000.

—The possibility that we are to lose Rev. W. E. Ellis grows almost to a probability. There is a disagreement as to the amount of salary. Mr. Ellis not seeing his way clear to accept a reduction and the officers fearing that they can not collect the amount promised last year. It is sincerely hoped that the matter will be amicably adjusted.

—In his valedictory in the Jackson Hunter, which he has sold, Rev. J. J. Dickey says: My purpose in parting with the Hunter, and changing my location, is to give my whole time to the establishment of a school at London, under the auspices of The Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, for which $20,000 for buildings and grounds has already been secured, and an endowment of $20,000 pledged by the society, but not yet raised.

—The Rev. Fred D. Hale, well-known here, continues to cut such monkey shins at Owensboro as must make the angels weep. Sunday after preaching a sermon unparalleled in its bitterness to those whose oppose his methods, he demanded that a vote be taken whether he should resign at once. Nineteen of the bulldozed crew were manly enough to say that he ought to quit, but the majority voted to have him remain. The most charitable view of Mr. Hale's course is that his mind is wrong. The local papers are pronounced in their condemnation of his methods. The Post says: "His entire series form perhaps the most sensational chapter of Owensboro's religious, or sacrilegious, history, and have engendered much intense, though suppressed, feeling among both Protestants and Catholics. In some sections of the country they might have been attended by popular manifestations and perhaps violence, and the fact that Owensboro has remained outwardly passive attests the sensible and conservative spirit that has prevailed here."
